

Methods of Analyzing Atrial Fibrillations

Abstract

The present invention relates generally to analysis of electrocardiograms (ECGs) during atrial fibrillation. In particular, the invention relates to the use of such methods for the creation and validation of cardiac models and use in the refined diagnosis of heart disease.